A Fall of Marigolds by Susan Meissner

Two women living one hundred years apart who experience similar tragic losses of love--Clara's in the Triangle Shirtwaist Fire, and Taryn's in the collapse of the Twin Towers--are connected through time by a scarf.

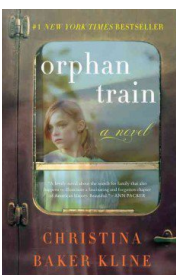

Necessary Lies by Diane Chamberlain

Caring for her family on their mid-twentieth-century tobacco farm after the loss of her parents, fifteen-year-old Ivy connects with Grace County social worker Jane Forrester, who strains her personal and professional relationships with her advocacy of Ivy's family.

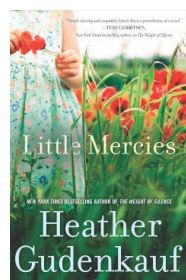

The Language of Flowers by Vanessa Diffenbaugh

The Language of Flowers beautifully weaves past and present, creating a vivid portrait of an unforgettable woman whose gift for flowers helps her change the lives of others even as she struggles to overcome her own troubled past.

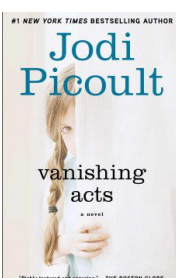

Orphan Train by Christina Baker Kline

Close to aging out of the foster care system, Molly Ayer takes a position helping an elderly woman named Vivian and discovers that they are more alike than different as she helps Vivian solve a mystery from her past.

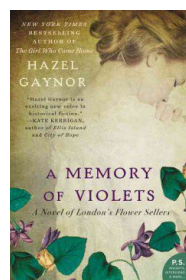

Little Mercies by Heather Gudenkauf

When her life unexpectedly collides with 10-year-old Jenny Briard, a homeless girl struggling to survive on her own, veteran social worker and mother Ellen Moore discovers that one small mistake can have life-altering consequences.

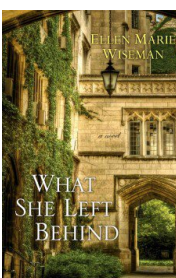

Vanishing Acts by Jodi Picoult

Life is going well for Delia Hopkins. She has a daughter and a fiancé, and with her search-and-rescue bloodhound, she helps find missing persons. But as she plans for her wedding, she is haunted by inexplicable flashbacks to a devastating time she cannot recall.

A Memory of Violets by Hazel Gaynor

Soon after taking a job at a home for orphaned flower girls, Tilly Harper finds a notebook that tells the tale of two flower girl sisters, Flora and Rosie, who were heartbreakingly separated forty years before.

What She Left Behind by Ellen Marie Wiseman

Izzy Stone struggles to solve the mysteries surrounding her mentally ill mother and discover a place to truly call home.
