The Vanishing Half
by Brit Bennett

Two mixed-race identical twins reevaluate their choices as one raises a black daughter in their hometown while the other passes for white with a husband who is unaware of her heritage.

The Silent Patient by Alex Michaelides

A captivating study of the characters linked to Alicia Berenson, a famous painter who inexplicably shot the husband she loved and then chose never to utter a single word again.

The Lions of Fifth Avenue
by Fiona Davis

A New York Public Library superintendent's wife reevaluates her priorities upon joining a woman's suffrage group in 1913, decades before her granddaughter's efforts to save an exhibit expose tragic family secrets.

Before She Knew Him
by Peter Swanson

What would happen if a serial killer met the perfect confidant, someone who would never be believed if they revealed his or her secrets? Nothing good.

The Pull of the Stars
by Emma Donoghue

A novel set in 1918 Dublin offers a three-day look at a maternity ward during the height of the Great Flu pandemic.

The Book of Lost Names
by Kristin Harmel

True events in the story of a Polish graduate student in World War II who uses her forgery talents to help hundreds of Jewish children flee the Nazis.
