

AGING & SOCIAL JUSTICE

*A Three-Part Zoom Series on Aging in Bridgewater as spoken by its older residents of color - Paul & Sheila
Bracy, Doris Campbell, &
Sherely Phillips*

Part I March 16 2pm

Oral history panel discussion with Bridgewater older residents of color, Moderator, Gloria Stanton, C.A.G.S.

Part II March 30 2pm

*Reflecting on the Civil Rights Movement,
Moderator, Jeanne Oliver-Foster, MA*

Part III April 13 2pm

*Mobilize & Call to Action for all ages
Moderator, Sydné Marrow, M.Ed*

Join us on Zoom: 97447101267

MISSION STATEMENTS

The mission of the Bridgewater Council on Aging and Cole-Yeaton Senior Center is to promote the emotional, physical and economic well being of older adults and to encourage their participation in all aspects of community life.

BCCR is a community-based organization dedicated to educating residents and the greater community about the value of diversity, the richness of cultural differences, and the sanctity of human rights. We believe that all people want a place in their community, for themselves and their family, where they feel, safe, heard, and valued. BCCR's community work is guided by the following tenets:

Compassion Teamwork Empowerment
Accountability Action Collaboration Advocacy

Since the time of its founding in 1840, Bridgewater State has remained steadfast in its commitment to empower individuals and instill in its students and faculty a deep appreciation for advancing the public good. These missions are at the very core of who we were then and who we are now. Our strategic vision and resulting priorities rest squarely upon this foundation – and our university leaders possess the foresight, experience and civic awareness that will move us forward along this path.

The mission of the Martin Richard Institute for Social Justice—named after the youngest victim of the 2013 Boston Marathon bombings—is to build knowledge about social justice, to develop skills for advancing social justice through individual and collective action, and to serve as a catalyst for actualizing Bridgewater State University's commitment to social justice.