

Confessions on the 7:45

by Lisa Unger

Selena is commuting home when she strikes up a conversation with a beautiful stranger in the next seat. The stranger confesses that she's been stuck in an affair with her boss. Selena, in turn, confesses that she suspects her husband is sleeping with the nanny. At Selena's stop, the two women part ways, presumably never to meet again. But days later, Selena's nanny disappears.

Don't Look For Me

by Wendy Walker

It happens all the time. Women disappear, desperate to start over. But what really happened to Molly Clarke? A new lead brings Molly's daughter back to the small town where her mother was last seen to renew the desperate search. The locals are sympathetic and eager to help, until dangerous secrets begin to reveal themselves.

By the author of Emma in the Night.

One By One

by Ruth Ware

When an offsite company retreat is upended by an avalanche that strands them in a remote mountain chalet, eight coworkers are forced to set aside their corporate rankings and mutual distrust in order to survive. But one of them didn't make it back from the slopes when the avalanche hit. As each hour passes without any sign of rescue, panic mounts, the chalet grows colder, and the group dwindles further...

Safecracker

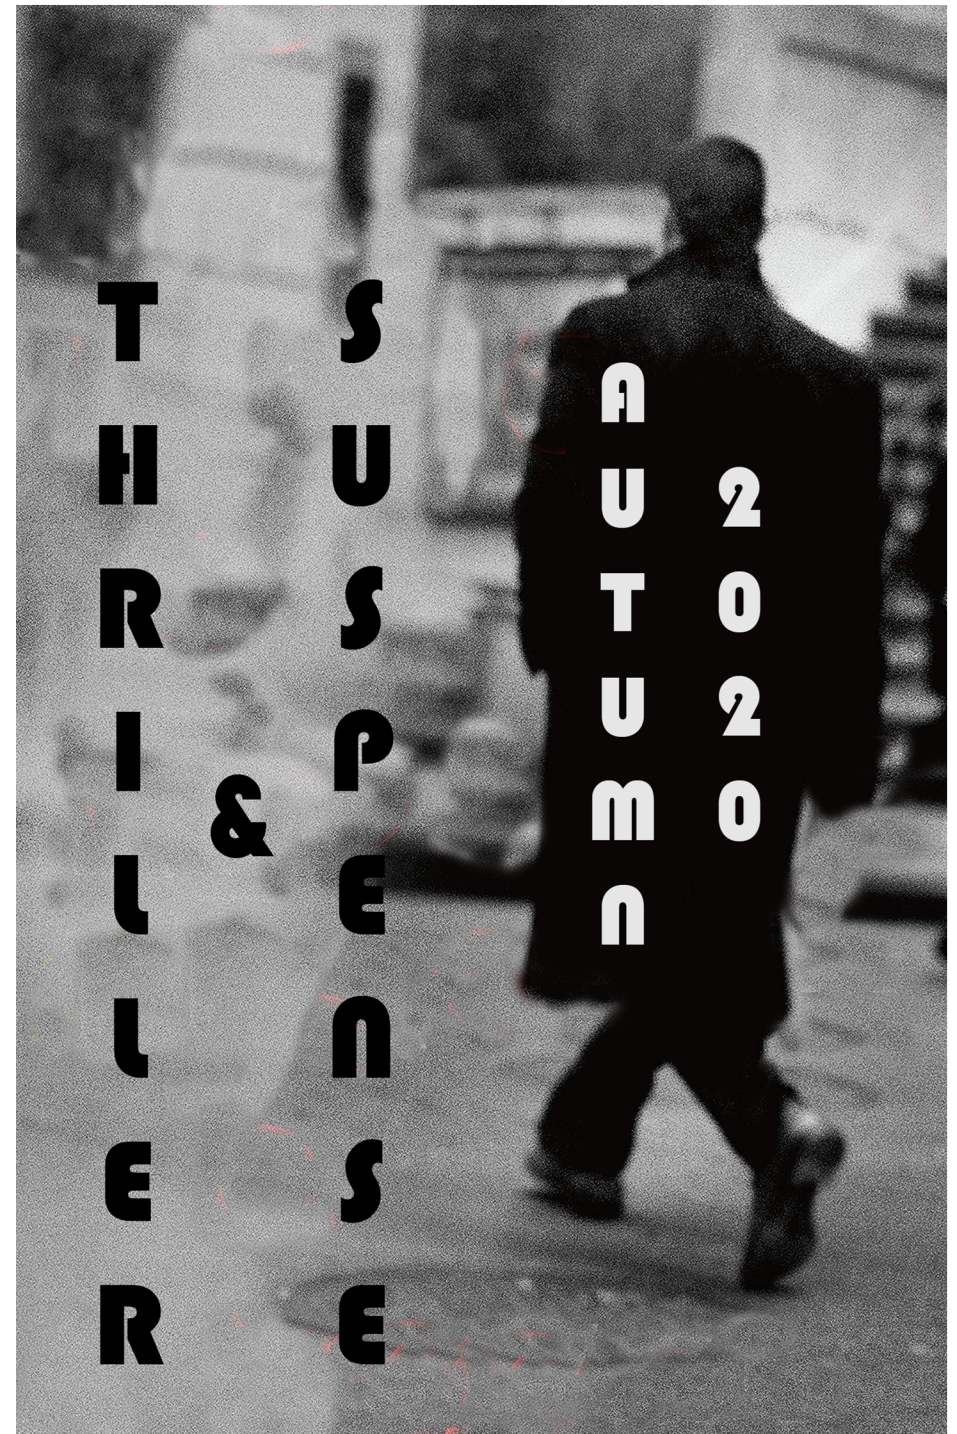

by Ryan Wick

Safecracker Michael Maven's latest job should be simple: steal a rare coin from a New York apartment. Except the coin's owner comes home with a beautiful woman, who murders the coin owner, nearly murders Maven, and takes the coin herself. Then Maven's life gets really complicated: the woman's boss, a sadistic drug lord, forces him to take on a far more dangerous job.
