Nicole's Current Pick

Kellen's Current Pick

Today we talk to Kellen, the Technology Training Specialist from the Maker Studio. We speak with him about how the Maker Studio is changing. Patrons will be creating their own projects and the staff at the Studio will show you how to do that. You will now fill out a 'passport' and learn how to use all of the machines in the studio yourself. Classes will also be switching more project based and will give you the skills to create items yourself.
