

HUMOR 2023

100 Animals That Can F*cking End You

by Mamadou Ndiaye

A wittily informative field guide to the deadliest animals on earth. Discover the ultimate countdown to death by animal, according to Mamadou Ndiaye, creator of the viral @mndiaye-97 TikTok account.

Comedy Comedy Comedy Drama

by Bob Odenkirk

The Emmy-winning star of Mr. Show, Breaking Bad, and Better Call Saul discusses his early career as a cult comedy writer, as well as his reinvention as an action star at age 50.

Delete That

by John Crist

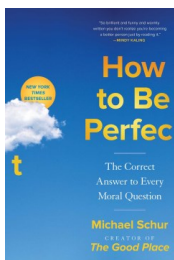

The popular standup and internet comedian presents observations on the absurd ways we all try to make ourselves look better online, such as posting pictures of our healthy meals while ignoring our late-night fast-food runs.

Happy-Go-Lucky

by David Sedaris

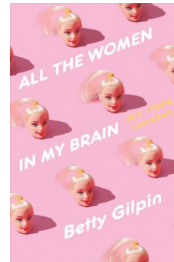

The best-selling author offers a new collection of satirical and humorous essays that chronicle his own life and ordinary moments that turn beautifully absurd, including how he coped with the pandemic, and the battle-scared America he discovered when he resumed touring.

How to be Perfect

by Michael Schur

From the creator of The Good Place and the co-creator of Parks and Recreation, a hilarious, thought-provoking guide to living an ethical life, drawing on 2,500 years of deep thinking from around the world.

All the Women in My Brain

by Betty Gilpin

The actress and writer presents a collection of hilarious and intimate essays from the scores of different women in her brain, with discussions on modern womanhood, life in Hollywood, and much more.

Declassified

by Arianna Warsaw-Fan Rauch

This book blows through the cobwebs of elitism and exclusion and invites everyone to love and hate this music as much as the author does, cheekily demystifies the world of High Art while making the case that classical music matters more than ever.

Go Back to Where You Came From

by Wajahat Ali

A rollercoaster ride of a memoir, by turns hilarious and heartbreaking, by a journalist, playwright, and political activist, offering strategies to help cultivate a more compassionate America.

The Hiking Book From Hell

by Are Kalvø

Jim Gaffigan meets Cheryl Strayed in this blisteringly funny memoir about the call of the wild, from one of Scandinavia's biggest comedians. When Are realizes he's the only person who hasn't posted a selfie on a mountain, he starts to wonder: does he have it all wrong?

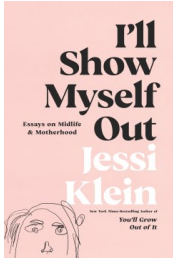

I'd Like to Play Alone, Please

by Tom Segura

The stand-up comedian and podcast host shares stories of his crazy life on the road and punishing schedule, including bizarre celebrity encounters and his philosophy in an increasingly insane world, sometimes you just need to be alone.

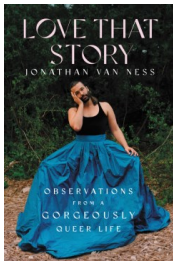

HUMOR 2023

I'll Show Myself Out

by Jessi Klein

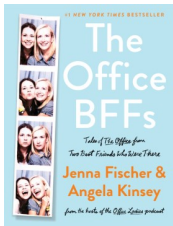

The best-selling author and Emmy Award-winning writer and producer hilariously destroys the cultural myths and impossible expectations of modern-day motherhood and explores the humiliations, poignancies, and possibilities of midlife.

Love That Story

by Jonathan Van Ness

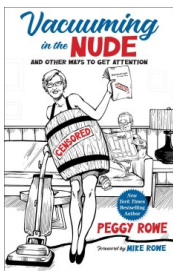

In this candid essay collection, the star of Netflix's Queer Eye takes a thoughtful, in-depth look at current topics, providing stories that speak to challenging internalized beliefs, finding compassion and confidence, and learning more about what makes us all so messy and gorgeous.

The Office BFFs

by Jenna Fischer

Expanding on their Office Ladies podcast, two beloved The Office co-stars, and close friends in real life, share everything from what it was like in the early days as the show gained traction, to walking their first red carpet, to how their lives have changed.

Vacuuming in the Nude

by Peggy Rowe

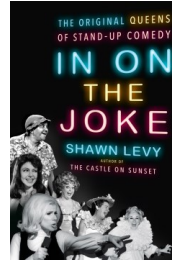

Peggy Rowe has been writing all of her adult life. Between her tenacity and the encouragement of her family, Peggy shares her journey of attending myriad writers' conferences and honing her ability to see humor in everyday situations.

The World Deserves My Children

by Natasha Leggero

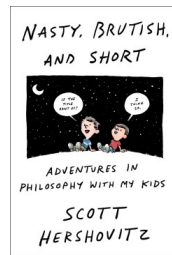

The stand-up comedian presents a laugh-out-loud funny collection of essays on being a mom that explores themes like geriatric motherhood, parenting in an environmental panic, fear and love, conflicting advice on raising children and more.

In on the Joke

by Shawn Levy

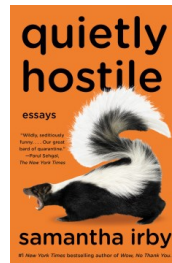

This account of the trailblazing women comics who forged a path for today's female comics looks at the obstacles faced by pioneers such as Moms Mabley, Belaine May, Joan Rivers, and Phyllis Diller.

Nasty, Brutish, and Short

by Scott Hershovitz

With great humor and storytelling, Hershovitz follows an agenda set by his children Rex and Hank, canvassing pressing questions about rights, revenge, authority, sex, gender, race, knowledge, truth, and other mysteries most grown-ups ignore.

Quietly Hostile

by Samantha Irby

In this much-anticipated new collection of hilarious essays, the beloved best-selling author takes us on another outrageously funny tour of all the gory details that make up the true portrait of a life behind the screenshotted depression memes.

Who Do I Think I Am?

by Anjelah Johnson

A successful stand-up comedian and actress shares funny stories from her life that explore subjects such as racial identity, finding your place in the world, chasing your crazy dreams, embracing the messiness of an evolving faith, and searching for belonging and meaning.

The World's Worst Assistant

by Sona Movsesian

Part satire based on her and Conan O'Brien's beloved alter egos, part memoir that evidences their sincere mutual trust and respect built over 12 years, this hilarious how-to-guide shows readers how to get away with being a terrible, yet unfireable employee.

Sherwood Public Library

22560 SW Pine St

Sherwood, Oregon 97140 | 503-625-6688

www.sherwoodoregon.gov/library