Someone Else's Shoes
by JoJo Moyes
I loved this book! A novel of female friendships - likely and unlikely. It was funny, empowering, a little sad, a little madcap, a little suspenseful, with a little romance thrown in. Lots of "littles" in my review but not a little book. A good page-turner.

All That is Mine I Carry With Me
by William Landay
I found this book truly engrossing. A wife & mother disappears. Did the husband kill her? The family is split apart with believing if he did, if he didn't. There are no clues, no body. Just circumstantial evidence. I loved the writing.

The House of Ashes
by Stuart Neville
A good crime thriller with supernatural overtones! Set in Ireland present day with flashbacks to the 1960s. Domestic abuse, kidnapping (think Elizabeth Smart) and a Mafia-type Irish family - all this had my heart pounding!

Black Hollywood: Reimagining Iconic Movie Moments
by Carell Augustus
Black celebrities and performers from all areas of entertainment recreate iconic scenes from classic movies, television, and other media. Gorgeous pictures and I loved the commentary.
