

Recommended Audio Books for your Library Road Trip!

These audios are available on Libby.

Still Foolin' Em*

by Billy Crystal

Billy Crystal shares personal stories of friends, family, and his career. Though this book was written 10 years ago and many of his colleagues from then are gone, his comments and stories about aging are hysterical and you will laugh out loud, but you might need tissues also! Billy narrates, which puts this audio over the top.

Daisy Jones & The Six*

by Taylor Jenkins Reid

I loved this novel and the audio is excellent! A full cast narrates, which includes Benjamin Bratt, Jennifer Beals, January LaVoy and Julia Whelan. This is a fictional story of a 1970s rock band and their rise to fame. I was sad to have it end and even shed a tear or two.

The Good Sister*

by Sally Hepworth

This is a captivating domestic/psychological thriller. Twins who couldn't be more different or more dependent on one another, tell very different stories. One chapter I would be smiling and happy and the next chapter I would be shocked and horrified - quite the see-saw of emotions and perceptions.

Summer Stage

by Meg Mitchell Moore

A good summer beach read about family, social media, acting and lost romance, revolving around a summer production of Much Ado About Nothing on Block Island, Rhode Island. The audio was very good!

* also available on CD in the RCLS catalog

The RCLS Road Trip is Sponsored by Senator James Skoufis