

THE BOOKWORM

HALLOWEEN EDITION

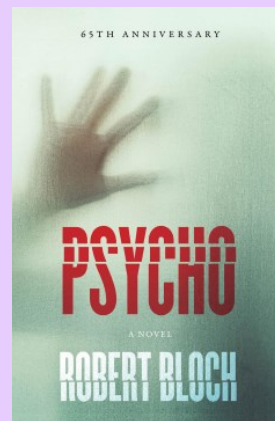

Looking for a good scary read? Our resident
"Bookworm" recommends:

You can find these books in the Ramapo Catskill Library System catalog

Incidents Around the House
by Josh Malerman

Oh my goodness... scary, scary book! I loved it! Normally creaky sounds in your home will have new levels of uneasiness. And those of you with children.. wow, you better hope they never say "Goodnight, Other Mommy!" after the usual goodnights. Horror fans, read this book!

Psycho

by Robert Bloch

I have seen the movie but, even still, I enjoyed the book and could feel the tension and horror that somebody who hasn't seen the movie would feel. If you haven't seen the movie (who are you??) - be prepared for a great ride.

A House for Good Children
by Kate Collins

This is a very spooky gothic fiction novel set in dual times. 2018 – Orla and her two children are alone most of the time in a rambling and sinister old house. 1977 – Lydia is a nanny to 4 children whose mother is disinterested since the death of her husband. Boooo....

The Dark Half

by Stephen King

Thad Beaumont is a successful writer who also secretly writes sinister books under the name of George Starks. When Thad decides to figuratively bury George, the murders that follow suggest that George Starks is impossibly alive. Heart pounding! (King thanked his dark half - the late Richard Bachman for his help.)

Would you like a personal recommendation from the Bookworm?

email: Bookworm@rcls.org