

HUMOR 2025

Birds Aren't Real

by Peter McIndoe

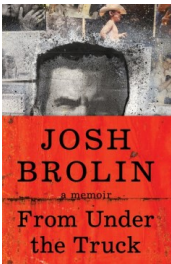

The creator of the satirical conspiracy theory which claims that birds are actually drones operated by the United States government to spy on American citizens presents a manifesto to convince skeptics that the threat is real.

Does This Taste Funny?

by Stephen Colbert

American comedian, political commentator and television host Stephen Colbert and his wife Evie share their favorite recipes from their South Carolina roots with humor and heart including Popovers, Salt-and-Pepper Wings and Chess Pie.

From Under the Truck

by Josh Brolin

This memoir from the Academy Award-nominated actor vividly portrays a life filled with curiosity, pain and humor, recounting his unconventional childhood and personal struggles, with profound reflections on relationships, addiction, love and loss.

Joyful Recollections of Trauma

by Paul Scheer

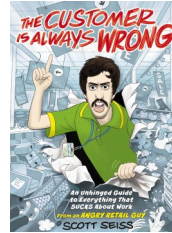

The award-winning comedian, actor, filmmaker, and podcaster presents a hilarious and candid memoir that confront his sometimes shocking and difficult childhood, journey towards self-acceptance and his own experiences as a father.

If You Can't Take the Heat

by Geraldine DeRuiter

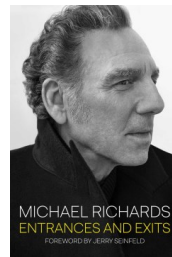

The James Beard Award-winning blogger of Everywhereist.com presents this hilarious and pointed collection of essays that chronicle how her experiences in the world of food helped forged her feminist activism and sharp voice.

The Customer Is Always Wrong

by Scott Seiss

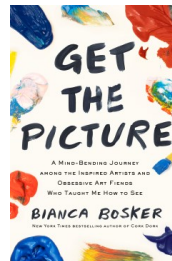

A noted internet comedian offers a tongue-in-cheek commiseration for workers that provides humorous takes on things that drive people crazy in the workplace.

Entrances and Exits

by Michael Richards

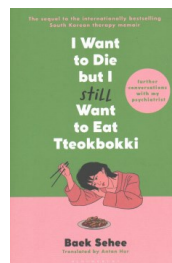

The man who brought the kavorka to the Seinfeld show shares the extraordinary life of a comedy genius -- the way he came into himself as an artist, the ups and downs as a human being, the road he has traveled in search of understanding.

Get the Picture

by Bianca Bosker

"The bestselling author of Cork Dork takes readers on another fascinating, hilarious, and revelatory journey -- this time burrowing deep inside the impassioned, secretive world of art and artists.

I Want to Die but I Still Want to Eat Tteokbokki

by Baek Sehee

In this eagerly anticipated sequel to the internationally bestselling therapy memoir, the author's sessions intensify as her inner conflicts become more complex, sharing revelatory insights that come just when she has almost given up hope.

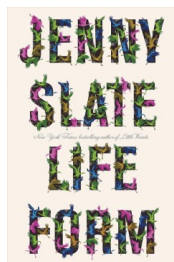

The Laughter Effect

by Ros Ben-Moshe

Ros Ben-Moshe provides a roadmap to tap into the lighter side of life with laughter therapy, sharing tips and tools to achieve an intentional state of being she calls the Laughter Effect -- a way to elevate mindfulness, gratitude, and self-compassion.

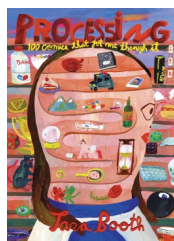

HUMOR 2025

Lifeform

by Jenny Slate

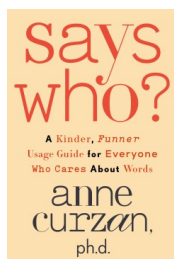

The actor, comedian, co-creator of Marcel the Shell, and bestselling author of Little Weirds offers a humorous collection of essays depicting the journey into motherhood as you've never seen it before.

Processing

by Tara Booth

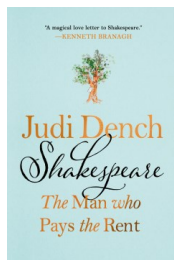

Tara Booth is a fearless cartoonist who is unafraid to put her existential angst, blemishes, and stains right on the page, and who makes us all feel a bit more at home in our too-human vessels.

Says Who?

by Anne Curzan

Applying entertaining examples from literature, newspapers, television and more, a linguist and veteran English professor shows how our language choices can be a powerful force for equity and personal expression, making language fun for all.

Shakespeare

by Judi Dench

Interweaving anecdotes on audiences, critics, company spirit and rehearsal room etiquette, Dame Judi Dench opens up about every Shakespearean role she has played throughout her 70-year career, serving up priceless revelations on everything therein.

What This Comedian Said Will Shock You

by Bill Maher

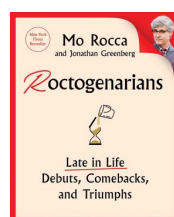

Inspired by the "editorial" he delivers at the end of each episode of Real Time, this hilarious commentary about American life speaks covers free speech, cops, drugs, race, religion, cancel culture, the media, show biz, romance, health and more

Low-Hanging Fruit

by Randy Rainbow

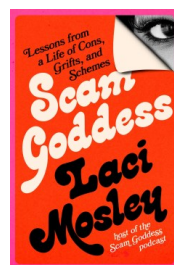

A popular comedic Youtuber and bestselling author offers a new collection of essays on relationships, politics, society, pop culture, and everything in between.

Roctogenarians

by Mo Rocca

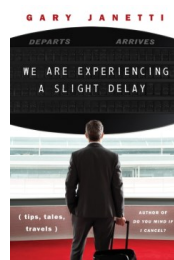

Celebrating the triumphs of people who made their biggest marks late in life, this entertaining and unexpected collection stars an amazing cast of characters -- some long gone and some very much still living.

Scam Goddess

by Laci Mosley

In a subversive essay collection, a comedian and actress recounts how her scammer instincts have guided her throughout her life, while also recounting the greatest true-crime scam stories that inspired her along the way.

We Are Experiencing a Slight Delay

by Gary Janetti

Sharing stories of his varied trips around the world, which double as personal meditations, this bestselling author, television writer, and producer tackles the absurdity and glory of travel.

The Year of Living Constitutionally

by A. J. Jacobs

A best-selling author chronicles his hilarious adventures as he attempts to live as closely as possible to the original meaning of the Constitution, delves into originalism and living constitutionalism, the two rival ways of interpreting the document.

Sherwood Public Library

22560 SW Pine St
Sherwood, Oregon 97140 | 503-625-6688
www.sherwoodoregon.gov/library